Credit Name: CSE 2120 Data Structures 1

Assignment Name: CourseGrades

How has your program changed from planning to coding to now? Please explain?

My planning inside of my head was kinda blurry when making this because i didnt really understand what it was asking but as i started to code it, it started making more sense to me. i used GradeBook class to handle grades and averages and to display and take the user input using scanner. i used 2d array to store the grades and at first i was kinda confused how to make another class in the same code but after some trial and error i got it to work.